

Carrot Club – A Letter to the Carrots

The other vegetables in the supermarket are so fed up with not being allowed in the exclusive 'Carrot Club'. Imagine you are Sally Sprout and write a letter to persuade the carrots to allow all vegetables into their club.

First, plan your ideas by writing helpful notes in the planning boxes.

Examples of what the carrots did wrong:

Useful Words:

exclusive	interesting
allowed	think
rude	include
unfriendly	amazed
cool	shameful

How can the carrots change and put it right?

Don't Forget!

- Use a range of conjunctions to make your sentences longer.
- Make sure your letter has a clear ending.

How does this make all the vegetables (including the carrots) feel?

Challenge

Can you use some adjectives (describing words) in your writing to make it more interesting?
