

What I don't like about being a kid is . . .

This morning I woke up and decided I wanted to go on an adventure, so I packed my backpack and hit the open road.

Tomorrow you will be dropped off at the airport with a suitcase filled with money. You're told to go anywhere you want. Where do you go?

Would you rather be a great singer or a great dancer?